

International Academic Symposium on “The Origins and Development of Nomadic Cultures in the Eurasian Steppe”

First call for papers

In order to explore the origins and development of the pastoralist cultures of the Eurasian Steppes, exchange the newest achievements of the research on pastoralist cultures and societies, and promote the development of the archaeology of pastoralism in the Eurasian steppes, the Research Centre for Chinese Frontier Archaeology of Jilin University, the Research Center for Frontier Archaeology, Institute of Archaeology, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, and the Inner Mongolia Hulunbuir Ethnographic Museum are co-organizing the International Academic Symposium on “The Origins and Development of Nomadic Cultures of the Eurasian Steppe”. Overseas scholars can participate online. We sincerely invite you to take the time to participate!

1. Date

October 16th to October 19th 2021.

2. Location

Jilin University, Qianwei Campus

3. Panels

- (1) On the concepts and theoretical questions of animal husbandry economy and pastoralism
- (2) The origins of the Eurasian pastoralist cultures and the early pastoralism
- (3) Archaeological observation of pastoralist Empires
- (4) The origins and early development of pastoralism from the perspective of Bioarchaeology
- (5) The contribution of today pastoralist economies and cultures to the prehistoric pastoralist archaeology

4. Organizers

Cai Dawei (Research Centre for Chinese Frontier Archaeology of Jilin University, 13604439845)

Peter Jia Weiming (Archaeology Department and Chinese Studies Centre at Sydney University peter.jia@sydney.edu.au)

Cong Dexin (Research Center for Frontier Archaeology, Institute of Archaeology, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, 13911010896)

Bai Jinsong (Hulunbuir Ethnographic Museum, 13904700979)

Contacts

Su Haibo 13009017033; E-mail: shb7325@sina.com

Li Jiawei 18844092855; E-mail: lijiawei@jlu.edu.cn

5. Conference fees

The conference does not charge conference fees, data fees, etc. Delegates attending the conference are responsible for their own transportation and accommodation expenses. Food expenses during the meeting will be taken care of by the organizing institutions.

Scholars who plan to participate in this symposium are requested to submit their information via email to the contact persons of the conference group (Su Haibo or Li Jiawei) before July 30th.

Research Centre for Chinese Frontier Archaeology of Jilin University
Archaeology Department and Chinese Research Centre at Sidney University
Research Center for Frontier Archaeology,
Institute of Archaeology, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences
Inner Mongolia Hulunbuir Ethnographic Museum

May 28th 2021

International Academic Symposium on “The Origins and Development of Nomadic Cultures in the Eurasian Steppe”

Participants information

1	Basic information
	Name:	Gender:
	Position:	Title:
	Institution:
	Phone number:
	Email address:
2	Do you want to attend this meeting? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No
3	Do you want to present a paper? <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No
4	Presentation title:
5	Other requirements or suggestions:	